Customer's confirmations referring to any deviating terms and conditions are hereby rejected. Such conflicting terms or customer's terms in derogation from our terms shall not be recognized, unless we explicitly agreed upon their validity in written form. Our terms shall be valid also if we, being aware of conflicting terms or customer's terms in derogation from our terms, carry out the delivery unreservedly. Any additional or deviating agreements shall require our written confirmation to be valid. Our terms of sale and delivery shall be valid also for all future business relations with the customer even without any further reference to them.

2. Offers and Orders

2.1. Our offers are subject to change and without obligation unless otherwise noted in the confirmation order. The contract comes into existence if we confirm the order of the customer by confirmation of order, proforma invoice or delivery within this period. Our confirmations of order are always issued subject to a positive credit rating of the customer and subject to punctual and correct supply to ourselves.

2.2. Call orders are considered as firm orders unless otherwise noted in the confirmation of order.

2.3. A minimum order value of € 150.00 (net) applies. If the value is below this value, intra shall reserve the right to charge a minor quantity surcharge.

Further, we point out that the use of the goods as well as trading and export may take place only in accordance with the corresponding valid foreign trade regulations.

4. Prices and Terms of Payment

They do not include freight, insurance, customs, taxes and other public charges and import turnover tax/VAT in particular, if not otherwise written. The costs for the return transport of the packaging shall be borne by the customer. Unless a fixed price was explicitly agreed upon for the order, the prices valid at intra on the date the contract is concluded shall apply.

4.2. Invoices shall be paid according to the terms of payment stated in the confirmation of order or the invoice; in other respects, without deduction on receipt of the goods. This shall be without prejudice to further entitlements.

4.3. If the customer falls behind with due payments or if we become cognizant of circumstances with justifiable reasonable doubt of the customer's solvency or credit worthiness, we shall be entitled to demand, at our own option, payment in advance in provision of security. If the demand is not fulfilled we shall be further entitled to claim a right of retention concerning further deliveries and to refuse the performance of the contract after an appropriate additional respite and to demand damages instead of performance.

4.4. The assertion of a right of retention or the setting off against possible counterclaims of the customer is only permitted in case of legally binding or undisputed counterclaims.

5. Delivery and Delivery Times

The delivery shall be effected for account of the customer without liability for the cheapest mode of transport. The closing of an insurance contract that covers transport or breakage shall be effected only on express request, at the expense and according to specifications of the customer.

The risk shall pass to the customer after the consignment has been handed over to the person who carries out the transport has left our works for the purpose of dispatch. If the dispatch becomes impossible without our fault, the risk will be passed to the customer with notice of readiness for dispatch. This shall only apply if the customer is not a consumer according to article 13 of the German Civil Code (BGB).

5.2. Our specifications in the confirmation of order are exclusively for scope and date of delivery. We shall always be entitled to partial deliveries and partial performances. Partial deliveries may be invoiced separately.

5.3. The delivery times stated by intra are considered as only roughly agreed upon. Fixed delivery dates require our specific written confirmation as such. The delivery time starts with the date of the order confirmation and is met if the goods have left the work by the end of the delivery time or if the readiness for dispatch of the goods is reported. The compliance with our obligation to deliver requires the punctual and correct performance of the contractual obligations by the customer.

The time for delivery shall be extended appropriately due to any measures taken in the context of industrial actions or due to any unforeseen circumstances beyond our control, as far as there is evidence that such circumstances have a material impact on the production or the handover of the delivery item. This shall also apply if such circumstances impact any sub-contractor. intra is not responsible for the previously mentioned circumstances even if they emerge during an already existing delay. We shall inform the customer in important cases as soon as possible of the start and termination of such circumstances.

5.4. We shall be liable only for damage caused by delay in case of typically occurring, predictable damage. The limitation shall not be applied in case of malicious intent and gross negligence.

5.5. If the handover is delayed on demand of the customer or due to circumstances caused by him, the risk passes to the customer from the date of readiness for dispatch. The maturity of our payment claim shall not be affected in these cases, in fact, the delivery is considered as having taken place on the agreed date. 6.3. The customer shall be entitled to resell the reserved goods in orderly business transactions as long as he does not default on payment. The customer hereby assigns any claims in full (including all outstanding balance claims on open account) concerning the reserved goods which result from resale or any other legal grounds (insurance, unlawful act) as a precaution.
